

Established 1860

150 Varieties

ESTERBROOK'S Steel Pens

Sold Everywhere

The Best Pens Made

Veteran Policeman Dead.

Charles Bell, who died of consumption at his home, No. 228 Pennsylvania avenue, was the winner of the first gold medal offered to policemen for bravery. He retired from the department two years ago on account of his health. His funeral services will be held at 1 p.m. Saturday from St. Agnes's Church. The burial will be in St. Peter's and Paul's Cemetery.

NOTICE.

MARRIAGE AND DEATH NOTICES inserted in The Republic will be forwarded by telegram to any one of all the newspapers throughout the country, and published without extra charge, if a request to do so accompanies the copy. The news received and forwarded will be forwarded, however, until the next evening.

The parliamentarians have been wonderfully impressed by what they have seen of the United States. They spent the forenoon in sightseeing, many of them visiting the Congressional Library and the Capitol building. In the afternoon the majority of the party went to Mount Vernon to visit the tomb of Washington.

To-morrow President Roosevelt will receive the distinguished visitors.

Speaking of the importance of the resolution adopted at the St. Louis conference, which will be presented to the President to-morrow, William Randal Cremer, the originator of the Interparliamentary Union, said:

"This Interparliamentary Union and the magnitude of the movement it represents and its recent culmination at St. Louis by the passage of the resolution which will be presented to President Roosevelt to-morrow does not seem to be fully appreciated."

"No ruler of any nation ever was offered such an opportunity as will fall to the President of the United States to-morrow.

He will be invited by the representatives of having a national parliament to convene a congress of nations, which will bring the nations of Central and South America together under one roof.

It is proposed that the new organization will concentrate the irresistible move-toward arbitration treaties and re-formations of the formularies of war that will serve as a model, clearly defining what classes of controversies are included in it, and giving The Hague court jurisdiction over the trials of such cases, thus rounding it on a solid basis, in the proper spirit of the general principles of the world's judicial machinery."

"In other words," the President will be asked to take on behalf of the United States a seat for a—a step—in the steps in the universal adoption of the ideas for which your fathers fought

and died to make operative on the Atlantic Ocean of the world."

This request will be made by the chosen representatives of the people of nearly every important nation that has adopted

it for its national policy.

"This is the opportunity for the United States to become a world power in the spirit of the past has been preparing for, the day may come when it will be permanently

or beneficially successful."

"The thing they invite the nations to do is simply a common-sense application of the principles of justice and of peace

which have been found indispensable in the conduct of state and national affairs."

"In other words," the President will be asked to take on behalf of the United States a seat for—a step—in the

steps in the universal adoption of the

ideas for which your fathers fought

and died to make operative on the Atlantic Ocean of the world."

This request will be made by the chosen

representatives of the people of nearly

every important nation that has adopted

it for its national policy.

"This is the opportunity for the United States to become a world power in the

spirit of the past has been preparing for,

the day may come when it will be permanently

or beneficially successful."

"The thing they invite the nations to do is simply a common-sense application

of the principles of justice and of peace

which have been found indispensable in

the conduct of state and national affairs."

"In other words," the President will be

asked to take on behalf of the United

States a seat for—a step—in the

steps in the universal adoption of the

ideas for which your fathers fought

and died to make operative on the Atlantic Ocean of the world."

This request will be made by the chosen

representatives of the people of nearly

every important nation that has adopted

it for its national policy.

"This is the opportunity for the United States to become a world power in the

spirit of the past has been preparing for,

the day may come when it will be permanently

or beneficially successful."

"The thing they invite the nations to do is simply a common-sense application

of the principles of justice and of peace

which have been found indispensable in

the conduct of state and national affairs."

"In other words," the President will be

asked to take on behalf of the United

States a seat for—a step—in the

steps in the universal adoption of the

ideas for which your fathers fought

and died to make operative on the Atlantic Ocean of the world."

This request will be made by the chosen

representatives of the people of nearly

every important nation that has adopted

it for its national policy.

"This is the opportunity for the United States to become a world power in the

spirit of the past has been preparing for,

the day may come when it will be permanently

or beneficially successful."

"The thing they invite the nations to do is simply a common-sense application

of the principles of justice and of peace

which have been found indispensable in

the conduct of state and national affairs."

"In other words," the President will be

asked to take on behalf of the United

States a seat for—a step—in the

steps in the universal adoption of the

ideas for which your fathers fought

and died to make operative on the Atlantic Ocean of the world."

This request will be made by the chosen

representatives of the people of nearly

every important nation that has adopted

it for its national policy.

"This is the opportunity for the United States to become a world power in the

spirit of the past has been preparing for,

the day may come when it will be permanently

or beneficially successful."

"The thing they invite the nations to do is simply a common-sense application

of the principles of justice and of peace

which have been found indispensable in

the conduct of state and national affairs."

"In other words," the President will be

asked to take on behalf of the United

States a seat for—a step—in the

steps in the universal adoption of the

ideas for which your fathers fought

and died to make operative on the Atlantic Ocean of the world."

This request will be made by the chosen

representatives of the people of nearly

every important nation that has adopted

it for its national policy.

"This is the opportunity for the United States to become a world power in the

spirit of the past has been preparing for,

the day may come when it will be permanently

or beneficially successful."

"The thing they invite the nations to do is simply a common-sense application

of the principles of justice and of peace

which have been found indispensable in

the conduct of state and national affairs."

"In other words," the President will be

asked to take on behalf of the United

States a seat for—a step—in the

steps in the universal adoption of the

ideas for which your fathers fought

and died to make operative on the Atlantic Ocean of the world."

This request will be made by the chosen

representatives of the people of nearly

every important nation that has adopted

it for its national policy.

"This is the opportunity for the United States to become a world power in the

spirit of the past has been preparing for,

the day may come when it will be permanently

or beneficially successful."

"The thing they invite the nations to do is simply a common-sense application

of the principles of justice and of peace

which have been found indispensable in

the conduct of state and national affairs."

"In other words," the President will be

asked to take on behalf of the United

States a seat for—a step—in the

steps in the universal adoption of the

ideas for which your fathers fought

and died to make operative on the Atlantic Ocean of the world."

This request will be made by the chosen

representatives of the people of nearly

every important nation that has adopted

it for its national policy.